CARTOON NOTES

This month's CARTOON NETWORK STARRING letter column is the Q&A column addressing fans' questions on other Cartoon Network properties that may or may not grace our pages.

—Harvey Richards

Lisa Robertson
via the internet

Hello, Cartoon Network:

I enjoy CARTOON NETWORK STARRING very much. I know you make I. M. Weasel stories in your Cow & Chicken issues, but could you please make some I. M. Weasel issues as well? Thank you.

There are definite plans to do more things with many Cartoon Network properties, not only with I.M. Weasel, but also with other wonderful properties like Ed, Edd, n Eddy, Courage the Cowardly Dog and Sheep in the Big City. In fact, you'll get your first dose of Sheep in the Big City next month in CARTOON NETWORK STARRING #17, written and drawn by the show's creator, Mo Willems. Enjoy!

Alecia Maria Stevens
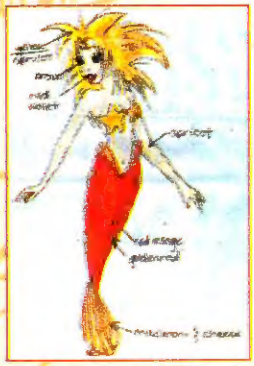
Tracy, CA

Dear Cartoon Network:

I am a good fan of Cartoon Network. I am mostly inspired by Sailor Moon because I get good ideas and drawings from that kind of artwork. This picture that I'm giving you is a picture that I drew, and I'm giving it to you because it could—at least I think it could be an idea for a new Toonami cartoon show. It's kind of like Sailor Moon. If you like the idea it would be nice to see a Toonami's Cartoon Network or if you don't, it was just a try.



Art by Alecia Maria Stevens, 13 years old.

Hodan Hussein

Dear Sir or Madam:

I was hoping you could help me. My friends and I love to read comics, especially yours! But I never got to read the cartoons I wanted.

I was wondering if you know if you have the cartoons Sailor Moon and Dragonball Z. They're my favorite, favorite TV shows. But I never saw them in a comic. I want to know if you have them in a comic. I want to know what issue they're in. I read CARTOON NETWORK PRESENTS #21 but was disappointed that Sailor Moon and Dragonball Z weren't there since it said "Toonami."

Well, Hodan, we have good news and bad news. The good news is "yes" there definitely are comics for Sailor Moon and Dragonball Z. The bad news is DC Comics doesn't publish them.

You see, the cartoons shown on Cartoon Network are based on comics of Dragonball Z and Sailor Moon. These comics were published in Japan years ago. An animation studio in Japan bought the rights to these characters in order to make cartoons about them, and then Cartoon Network purchased the rights to show the cartoons here in America.

So we don't publish Toonami, but if you like Toonami you might like Space Ghost—and we'll have a new one out in December!

This issue's cover by David Feiss.

Scooby-Doo or Courage the Cowardly Dog—which dog is the scaredest? Vote for the biggest scaredy-cat October 23 - 26 only on Cartoon Network!

Other DC Kids' Titles:

Dexter's Laboratory #16: Dee-Dee gets the birthday present of her dreams in "Dee-Dee's Pony Tale," but it's, well, a real Trojan horse. Plus, Dexter tries to take a scientific shortcut while playing miniature golf! Written by John Rozum; art by Bill Wray, John Delaney and Jeff Albrecht; cover by Wray.

Looney Tunes #71: Go trick-or-treating with three Looney ghost stories! Bugs and Daffy find a UFO in "Hare-a 51," Sylvester checks into a horror hotel (heeeere's Porky!), and the whole crew dresses up as You-Know-Who in "Tazzy-Doo, Where Are You?" Written by Jesse Leon McCann, Chuck Kim and Craig Boldman; art by David Alvarez, Walter Carzon, Mike DeCarlo and Horacio Ottolini; cover by Alvarez and DeCarlo.

Scooby-Doo #41: The Mystery Inc. gang gets a big "shock" from an electric monster that's haunting a trolley line; also, a haunted city dump holds the answer to more mysteries than they bargain for! Written by Rurik Tyler and John Rozum; art by Joe Staton, Dave Hunt and Vince Deporter; cover by Joe Staton and Dave Hunt.

The Powerpuff Girls #8: Ms. Bellum's on vacation, so the Mayor's in charge of Townsville — and we all know that's bad news! The Girls cope with City Hall craziness in "Mayor, May I." Written by Sean Carolan and Jennifer Moore; art by Phil Moy; cover by Moy.
